The chairman of the Senate Pension Committee is a Rebel General. The amount of lumber and fuel brought from the Watson flats surprises every one.

Will not the patriotism of some our Northern Republicans be quickened by the bluster and threats of the Solid South—the Hamptons, the Toombs, the Lamar's, etc.?

Western butter has been recently received in New York in ordinary 56 pound packages, increased in weight to 56 or 58 pounds by adulteration with powdered soapstone.

The blinding efforts of engineering at the Hudson river tunnel, have thus far accomplished nothing in the way of recovering the twenty bodies of the workmen there buried in the mud and silt of the accident of July 21st.

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY HAVING FAILED TO REPEAL RESUMPTION IN 1876, at the instance of Gov. Hendricks, our Greenback friends should see to it, that this important measure should be deferred no longer.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER. THE MAIN QUESTION—SOME REFLECTIONS ON OUR UNUTILIZED MANAGERMENT OF OUR CIVIL SERVICE—HOW IT WRONGS THE INDIVIDUAL AND THE NATION.

THE VALLEY VIRGINIAN, located at Staunton, the editor of which dared to follow Wade Hampton in the faithful report of his speech on the 29th of July, who felt that his independence would be sustained in his section, is now, we hear, beginning to suffer the consequences of that independence.

What's the matter, John? "A big bold old fellow, who don't you take 'Dr. Lindley's Blood Searcher,' and be cured!"

It is the testimony of the Cincinnati Commercial, as well as that of the New York Tribune—after having tried the experiment—that it is impossible to be independent in politics. The Commercial says: "We find the persistent existence of the Democratic party organization, as the ruling power of the country, is so rare a commodity in the way of independence of parties in journalism."

Eds. Tel.—As the following proposition was sent to the News last week, and failed to appear, it is sent to the TELEGRAPH, trusting that it will find a place.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, writing August 4, reports the casualty list of the Department in collecting the revenue in the South as follows: "During the past four years a well-sustained effort has been made to suppress the illicit manufacture and sale of whiskey and tobacco in a number of districts in the Southern States, where, for many years, these practices had been rife."

Commissioner, James Newison of Morgan; Inferiary Director, J. B. Beach of Monroeville; Coroner, J. D. Bugbee of Ashtabula; J. D. Hulbert of Ashtabula, Nelson Maltby of Geneva, Wm. Nelson of Trumbull, J. B. Beach of Monroeville, M. Bretelle of Morgan and H. H. Austin of Austintown, were appointed Central Committee.

From our Regular Correspondent. The news from Maine has created a considerable panic among the office-holders in Washington, and the panic was no doubt extended to every Federal office-holder in the country. The number of office holders, of all grades, throughout the Union may be stated in round numbers as one hundred thousand, and estimating that each one has dependent upon him for support five persons, it works out to a total administration will throw a half million of persons out of house and home, and reduce the larger number of them to a state of actual want.

The 6,000,000 acres of French vineyard are no longer able to supply the home demand for wine, and France has actually become a wine importing country. An insect pest has so lacerated the crop as almost to break down this—one of the most extensive and profitable industries of that nation.

There is no reason why the immense civil service of the United States should not be conducted on plain business principles, and that the tenure of office should be as stable as in the army and navy. The country would actually suffer less from a complete change of rank and file in the military and naval services with every political change in the administration, than it will suffer from a change in the civil service.

It is easier, any time, to pick out from the masses a good thinking fighter than one qualified mentally, morally and educationally for the responsible, clerical and semi-judicial work that is required in the land office; in the patent office; in the customs, revenue, and pension bureaus; in the management of forty thousand post offices—in short, throughout an immense service, affecting, directly or indirectly, the business interests of fifty millions of the most progressive people in the world. The lack of men in politics is not the result of a general mental decline, but is the result of a general moral and intellectual decline, and it is not long since have we reached a point where it is not our wonderful progress in wealth and prosperity, and, since the immense increase of our civil service, every change of the administration will be attended with dangers similar to those of a revolution.
